

Dr. Henri Hatayama

President, J.F. Oberlin University

Dr. Hiroaki "Henri" Hatayama is currently President of J. F. Oberlin University (OBIRIN DAIGAKU) in Tokyo, Japan. He studied at UNC-Charlotte for a master's degree in Linguistics and Literature, at UNC-Greensboro for a Ph.D. degree in Rhetoric, and at MIT for an MBA degree. He is specialized in the field of Language Philosophy, especial Rhetorical Studies. His official duties include an executive director of Japan University Accreditation Association, a councilor of Japan Institution for Higher Education Evaluation, an executive member of International Committee of Association of Private Universities of Japan, and a special member of the Council for University Chartering and School Juridical Person of Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology.