

Professor Yinshan Tang

Vice Dean of Henly Business
School, University of Reading, UK

Dr. Yinshan Tang is a Professor in Management Informatics at Henley Business School who teaches IT Project Management, Applied Informatics, Organisation Design and Performance Management at the MSc level for over 10 years. He had industry experience working for a business consulting firm as a Business Unit Manager for 6 years before coming to Reading 2004. He worked as a Parasitologist for over 17 years.

Yinshan, as an academic with senior management experience both in the industry and higher education, focuses on Biology, Parasitology, Computer Science, Oracle Databases, Project Management. He is interested in combining and applying Chinese and Western philosophies in management.

Dr. Yinshan Tang is currently an expert at Knowledge transfer, PRINCE2, Agile project management methodologies, Large database systems, Bioinformatics, Network and system security, Business performance assessment, Benchmarking, Semiotics, User requirement, System analysis and design, Business communication and negotiation.